Edmonton student dies in Mexico

Remembering.
'All-around good guy'
involved in fatal fall

ANNALISE KLINGBEIL
annalise.klingbeil@metronews.ca

Friends are remembering a 21-year-old University of Alberta student who died after falling from a balcony at a Mexican resort.

St. Albert native Chris Rogers was staying at the Great Parnassus Resort in Cancun when the incident happened early Saturday morning.

According to Mexican media reports, Rogers got into a fight in a hotel bar and was punched in the face. After leaving the bar, Rogers was disoriented and fell over a balcony railing, the reports said.

Friend Caitlin Boyd, who

had known Rogers for more than a decade, said she's heard that after the altercation Rogers was "acting funny, just not himself."

"They went back to the hotel room to take care of him and he stepped outside and fell. That's pretty much all we know," she said.

Boyd attended Bellerose Composite High School in St.

Albert with Rogers and said he had a big heart and smile.

"Something like this, you don't think it would happen to someone like Chris," she said.

"Chris was one of the best people I've ever met. He was caring and compassionate and funny. He was just an all-around good guy."

Rogers enjoyed playing hockey and was studying engineering at the University of Alberta, Boyd said.

Ian Trites, a spokesperson for Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada, said the department was working with the family, but were unable to confirm any of the details.

"Canadian consular officials in Mexico are in contact with local authorities to gather additional information and are providing consular assistance to the family," he said in an e-mail.

City to remove windrows next week

The City of Edmonton is looking to make some room on collector roads and bus routes by removing windrows starting next week.

Officials said Tuesday that the removal work will come with a parking ban as the city aims to remove the snow with snowblowers and dump trucks.

Temporary No Parking signs will go up this weekend, with the first crews hitting roadways on Jan. 14. The signs will give drivers 24 hours' notice to move their cars for the three-day ban.

Bob Dunford, director of roadway maintenance, said it is important for drivers to get off the roads when the signs go up.

"We ask people to please respect these signs," he said. "It is very critical that we not have anyone parking in these spots, because that can stop the whole operation."

The city won't ask twice, however, and parking enforcement will be out to ticket and tow vehicles.

The fine for parking in an area with a temporary ban is $50, and if a vehicle is towed, drivers could face hundreds of dollars in impoundment fees.

Crews have been working for several weeks on arterial roads and have also done about 85 per cent of school zones.

Dunford said the work on bus routes will take several weeks.

"This is up to a three-week process. We estimate about 15 or 16 working days."

Ex-judge to probe Katz donations

Daryl Katz THE CANADIAN PRESS FILE

A retired judge will investigate political donations made by Edmonton Oilers owner Daryl Katz to the Progressive Conservative Party of Alberta.

Elections Alberta spokesman Drew Westwater confirmed the probe on Tuesday. "We have an investigative team in place to confirm or deny that the contribution took place and whether the contribution was in conformity with the requirements of the Election Finances and Contributions Disclosure Act," he said.

Former Alberta Queen's Bench justice Ernest Marshall is heading the team. He will be assisted by two independent investigators, one of whom has a police background.

Hearing begins for murder case

A preliminary hearing has begun in Red Deer for a man accused in the death of Dana Turner, 31, whose body was discovered in a field west of Innisfail in October 2011, after she went missing from Fort Saskatchewan.

Mark Lindsay, 25, is charged with second-degree murder, offering an indignity to a body and obstruction of justice. He is the son of former Edmonton police chief John Lindsay.

Five days have been set aside for the hearing between now and Feb. 1.

Oil Kings, Rush enjoy more interest during absence of the NHL

Wave of popularity.

But both clubs believe playoff success, not lockout, brought new fans

Edmonton's other hockey team saw a boost in attendance during the NHL lockout, but players are hoping their new fans came for more than just a stand-in for the Oilers.

The Edmonton Oil Kings have seen a lot more fans in the seats this season.

"Our paid attendance is actually up 1,500 fans per game, which represents a year-over-year increase of 29 per cent," said Jordi Weidman, the club's director of business operations.

Weidman said the team reached out to Oilers fans, but without much luck.

"I firmly believe that a lot

The Edmonton Rush, whose season kicks off on Sunday, has also seen heightened interest, with 11 per cent higher sales of season tickets and a boost in sponsorships, team president Dave Jamieson said.

"Fans have found us during this off-season and they have come back in strong numbers," he said.

Internet privacy. Federal watchdog out to rein in Tory big-brother bill

An intense public outcry over the Conservative government's blockbuster bid to bolster Internet surveillance powers may be paying off.

The federal privacy watchdog has jumped into the fray to try to help the Tories find a compromise.

It proposes new procedures that will, yes, give police and spies key information about Internet users.

But it's striving to retain the principle of judicial oversight, a memo obtained under the Access to Information Act shows.

The internal memo reveals assistant privacy commissioner Chantal Bernier asked University of Montreal law professor Karim Benyekhlef to "help find a middle ground between security and privacy."

Protesters say allowing authorities access to Internet subscriber information without a court-approved warrant would be a dangerous infringement of privacy.

The government has indicated the bill would go directly to a House of Commons committee, skipping the usual second reading, to allow for amendments. But it has not yet resurfaced.

Yes, they're Indians, Canadian court rules

13-year fight. Court says 600,000 Metis and non-status Indians fall under federal jurisdiction

The federal government's responsibilities for aboriginal peoples just got a lot bigger.

After more than 13 years of legal wrangling, the Federal Court ruled Tuesday that Metis and non-status Indians are indeed "Indians" under the Constitution Act and fall under federal jurisdiction.

The decision helps to clarify the relationship between Ottawa and more than 600,000 aboriginal people who are not affiliated with specific reserves.

"This is huge," said Betty Ann Lavallee, national chief of the Congress of Aboriginal Peoples.

"It ends the denial of aboriginal birthrights that has existed for far too long."

Federal Court Judge Michael Phelan wrote that "the recognition of Metis and non-status Indian as Indians ...

While the decision does not declare the federal government has a fiduciary responsibility to the group, it says such duties would flow automatically.

The Congress of Aboriginal Peoples and several Metis and non-status Indians argued they are entitled to some or all of the same rights and benefits as on-reserve First Nations members.

They say that includes access to the same health, education and other benefits Ottawa gives status Indians.

Anger. First Nations say: We won't 'roll over'

Two First Nations from Alberta are taking the federal government to court.

They claim they weren't consulted about Conservative omnibus budget legislation that makes significant changes to environmental protection and assessment.

The Mikisew Cree First Nation and the Frog Lake First Nation launched their legal challenge Tuesday in Ottawa.

"The rest of Canada should be with us in support and send a message to Stephen Harper and his government that what they're doing is wrong," said Chief Steve Courtoreille of the Mikisew Cree First Nation.

"They can't ram bills down our throats and expect us to roll over and accept it, because this is going to affect our future, affect the future of all of Canada."

The two First Nations want a judicial review of parts of Bill C-38 and Bill C-45, focusing on changes to the Fisheries Act and the Navigable Waters Protection Act.

3D gun printing threatens reforms

Armed. Company produces parts likely to be banned by pending gun-control plans

KIERON MONKS
Metro World News

After the tragedies of Sandy Hook and Aurora, the U.S. government is preparing to introduce stricter guidelines on gun ownership. But supporters of the Second Amendment could get around them by printing their own firearms at home.

The technology is still developing, but 2012 saw the first shots fired from guns with printed parts. "Gun hacking" has a growing community in online forums and has become serious business.

"I have five people now making AK-47 magazines — they're incredibly easy to reproduce," Cody Wilson, CEO of the Defense Distributed company in Texas, told Metro. A firm believer in the right to bear arms, Wilson is deliberately producing parts for assault weapons likely to be banned by new controls.

"(U.S. Vice-President) Joe Biden's group are using the assumption that if you control the channel you control the product — but that is not the case anymore," says Wilson.

His company has made open-source code for more than 30 gun parts available online, and claims they receive thousands of downloads a day.

The printed guns are not a finished product. "At this point, the biggest problem is the force of explosion in the chamber," Kevin Coleman, military technology analyst, told Metro. But the U.S. military has begun to outfit its mobile labs with 3D printers to replace parts, and Coleman believes "further down the line you could produce a weapon that way."

So how could the weapons be controlled? Government can't intervene effectively, says Michael Weinberg, an attorney specializing in emerging technologies. "When you apply anger over gun control to a general-purpose technology, there's a lot of collateral damage," he said.

"We don't know enough about 3D printing to legislate the future."

Counterweight. Shot lawmaker to rival powerful American gun lobby

The former U.S. congresswoman who was shot in the head two years ago launched on Tuesday a national effort against gun violence, saying she and her husband will work to counter the country's strong gun lobby, the NRA.

Gabrielle Giffords' effort comes as the Obama administration faces a self-imposed deadline at the end of this month to propose ways to curb the mass shootings and other violence that continue to grip the country. The administration this week is calling gun-owner groups, victims' organizations and representatives from the video-game industry to the White House for discussions.

The sense of urgency comes after a young man with a high-powered rifle, legally purchased by his mother, shot 20 young childue to debate over fiscal issues.

Giffords, who has owned a Glock pistol, and her husband, former astronaut Mark Kelly, are becoming prominent voices for gun-control efforts. They wrote in an opinion piece published in USA Today that their Americans for Responsible Solutions, a political action committee, would help raise money to support greater gun-control efforts.

"Achieving reforms to reduce gun violence and prevent mass shootings will mean matching gun lobbyists in their reach and resources," they wrote. The National Rifle Association said after the Connecticut shooting that the solution would be putting an armed security officer in every school.

2-day shipping

Amazon Prime comes to Canada

Amazon has launched its unlimited, two-day shipping service in Canada. The world's largest online retailer says Amazon Prime will now be on offer to Canadian customers for an annual fee of $79.

Amazon says the two-day shipping guarantee will be offered in most of Canada. Customers in rural areas, particularly in the North or the Maritimes, can get unlimited shipping but without the two-day guarantee.

Some areas will also get the option of upgrading to one-day shipping for an additional fee starting at $3.99 per item.

Steve Oliver, the country manager for Amazon.ca, says the shipping guarantee will apply to millions of products sold by the online store, including everything from DVDs to baby strollers.

Ex-McDonald's CEO dies at 80

A former McDonald's CEO who helped expand the fast-food chain's global footprint and spearheaded the creation of Hamburger University died Monday night after suffering complications from pneumonia, the company said. He was 80 years old.

During Fred L. Turner's time as CEO from 1974 to 1987, McDonald's more than tripled its number of locations and set up shop in dozens of new markets, the company said in a statement. The chain now has about 34,000 locations worldwide.

Turner spearheaded the creation of McDonald's Hamburger University in 1961. The school is a training curriculum for managers, franchisees and other employees.

The company said Turner was one of founder Ray Kroc's first employees in 1956. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Real estate market 'still relatively solid,' top bankers say

Mortgage lending. Pullback is limited to certain markets such as Vancouver, conference hears Canada's real estate market remains "relatively solid" and should experience a "soft landing" despite the current slowdown and fears of overbuilding in the condominium segment, the country's leading bankers said Tuesday.

Speaking to a RBC banking conference in Toronto, the country's top bankers said they don't expect a dramatic downturn like the one in the United States about five years ago.

The bursting of the U.S. housing bubble is considered a major cause of the credit crunch that swept Wall Street and then the global economy in the fall of 2008, after interest rates on sub-prime mortgages rose and defaults soared.

By contrast, sub-prime mortgages have been less common in Canada and real estate prices have trended upward for the most part.

"Our expectation is that the overall real estate market in Canada is still relatively solid," Royal Bank CEO Gord Nixon said Tuesday. Despite reports that suggest Canadian housing is in crisis, he said the pullback is limited to a couple of markets, notably Vancouver.

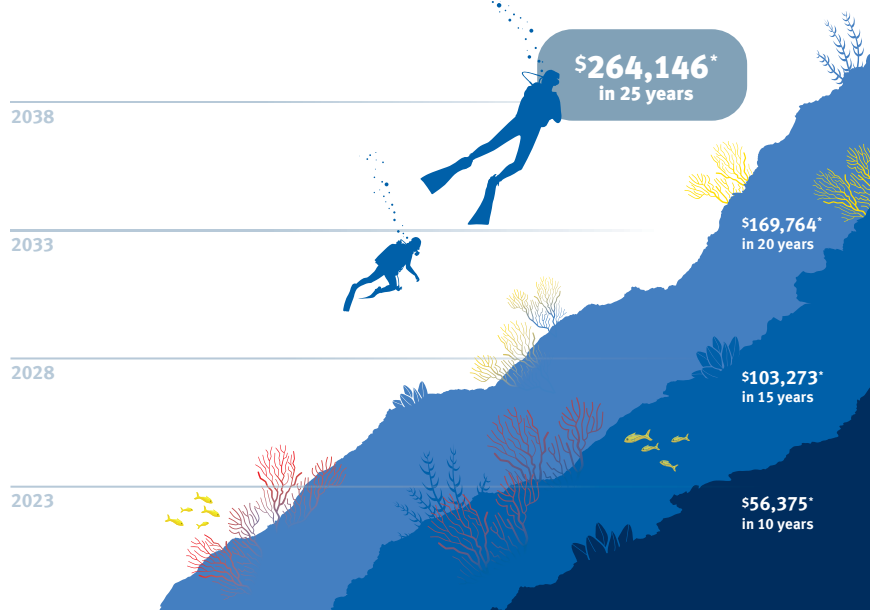

"We have seen a slowdown in sales and we've certainly seen a slowdown in mortgage demand but price levels are relatively stable," he said.

Health workers protest against austerity measures outside a hospital in Pamplona, northern Spain, on Tuesday. Spain's Treasury says it plans to borrow 230 billion euros (about $300 billion) in 2013, down from 250 billion euros last year, and is expecting to pay lower interest rates than those that battered the country in 2012. DOES THE NHL THINK WE'RE ALL CHUMPS?

JUST SAYIN'
Paul Sullivan
metronews.ca/voices/
just-saying

Are you ready for some hockey? You've probably been ready since last September, but the NHL does not care. The NHL does care about salary caps, revenue sharing, pension plans, free agency and all the other arcana of the hockey business, so much so that they shut the whole show down for 113 days to eliminate distractions.

Message to fans: Not now; not now. Can't you see? I'm talking about bidness?

So now an agreement between the players and the owners has been struck, and arenas across North America should be open for business on Jan. 19.

Hockey's back. The question is: Do you care?

The answer is easy: Of course you do. You grew up on skates. You live and die by the fortunes of your team. You personally identify with your favourite players, from Ryan Kesler to Ryan Nugent-Hopkins to ... someone ... on the Toronto Maple Leafs roster, I'm sure.

Send in the clowns

The NHL has your number. It owns your hockey soul, and when the gates swing open next Saturday, the NHL expects you to be there, all decked out in the jersey of your favourite multi-millionaire and your foam finger.

It hurts when the game takes your heart and slams it into the boards. This is the second NHL lockout in the last decade. Last time, like an abused spouse, you came back, hoping it would be different. It's not different. Are you going to come back this time?

Of course you are. The NHL has your number. It owns your hockey soul, and when the gates swing open next Saturday, the NHL expects you to be there, all decked out in the jersey of your favourite multi-millionaire and your foam finger.

And you will be there, because the NHL is the only game that matters. Hockey's entire culture, built on a base of suburban rinks and small town arenas, fuels the NHL, where the 690 best players on Earth do their thing. If you're watching the Oshawa Generals, it's to spot future NHL stars. If you're watching the Abbotsford Heat, it's only because a real NHL pro is passing through or falling in. If you're watching the Spengler Cup, you're watching a reshuffle of the NHL deck.

They have you where they want you. Which is why they can take you for granted and shut the league down while they haggle over the salary cap or whatever. They know you'll be there, nose pressed to the Plexiglass, when they decide it's time.

A word about "you." You are not a resident of Tampa Bay, Florida, U.S.A. You are Johnny Canuck from Moose Jaw or Moosonee. You know that whatever happens in Miami or Minsk, hockey is your birthright. No one else in the world cares the way you care.

If that makes you a chump, then so be it. At least, now there's hockey.

That's entertainment?

All not right as Rain in S. Korean army

South Korea's defence ministry has decided to confine pop star Rain to his base for a week for meeting with an actress while on duty.

The penalty is the lightest a South Korean soldier can face. Paparazzi photos recently showed Rain with actress Kim Tae-hee when he wasn't allowed to have private meetings while outside his base for official duties such as recording and performing.

Rain is fulfilling his two-year mandatory military service as an "entertainment soldier." His meetings with Kim raised suspicions that the military was coddling popular entertainers with special favours because they help enhance its image. Officials deny it.

Time magazine named him one of the world's 100 most influential people in 2011. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tigress in water photo wins big

An Indochinese tigress named Busaba shakes herself dry after a swim at Khao Kheow Open Zoo in Chonburi, Thailand. Q&A with photographer Ashley Vincent

'An explosion of water droplets'

How did this photo come about?

My family and I were showing my mother-in-law around the zoo. She wanted to see some tigers, so we made our way over to Busaba, who at the time was being fed slivers of fresh meat. I'd never taken much interest before in watching this — it's more for the benefit of visitors to Thailand — until one piece Busaba had caught hold of slipped and fell into the pool. She dove in to retrieve it and, as she reemerged, shook herself dry with an explosion of water droplets, and in an instant I had a cartoon light bulb appear above my head!

For you, what message is revealed in this image?

This is just one moment when this animal is so engaged in natural behaviour that any melancholy thoughts we may have, like animals in captivity, are expelled from our minds. It's freedom from thought.

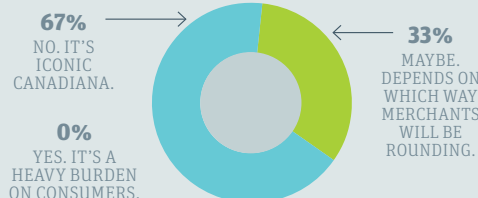

Any advice for budding photographers?

For all the money I've spent travelling around in Asia and Africa to picture wild animals, ironically this winning image I captured was taken about 30 minutes away from my house. I believe a tiger, for example, in captivity can be every bit as amazing and gorgeous as a tiger in the wild. So as wonderful as "wild" animal photography can be, until such a dream opportunity comes along, don't feel in any way disadvantaged because the only alternative you may have is to photograph captive animals. METRO WORLD NEWS

Zero Dark Thirty is billed as "the story of history's greatest manhunt for the world's most dangerous man." It's a carefully plotted espionage tale that flows from the clues that lead to the death of Osama bin Laden at the hands of the Navy SEAL Team 6 in May, 2011 and it will very likely earn its director, Kathryn Bigelow, an Academy Award nomination.

It won't be the first time the Academy has honoured her. In fact, she's one for the record books. Her last film, The Hurt Locker, was a huge critical hit and made her the first woman to win best director awards from the Academy Awards, the Directors Guild of America, the BAFTAs and the Critics' Choice Awards.

It was her first serious awards recognition, but it wasn't her first film. At age 61 she is a veteran with nine features, hours of television and music videos for bands like New Order to her credit.

Critic Jon Popick called her first film, 1982's The Loveless, "a slightly hallucinatory homage to The Wild Ones," which means it's a surreal outlaw biker film, one part tribute, two parts reinvention.

A trilogy of action films — Blue Steel, Point Break and Strange Days — saw her blend technical sophistication with themes that redefined the genre of the movies.

"When you have this great social tool, at the very least, take advantage of it as a means to communicate."

Movie violence in a gun sensitive period

Industry issues.

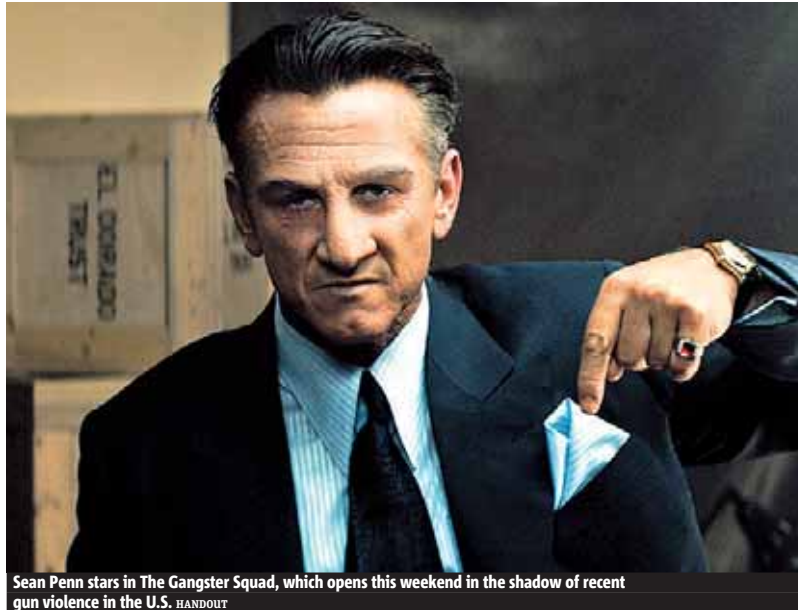

The Gangster Squad and The Last Stand filmmakers respond to shootings

Metro World News

The recent high-profile U.S. shootings — most notably in a movie theatre in Colorado in July and an elementary school in Connecticut just before Christmas — have brought attention back to gun violence in popular culture. It's an issue the people behind two of this month's more bullet-ridden releases have had to grapple with while promoting their films.

"It's obviously something that's affected all of us. I don't think anybody has spent the last few weeks not thinking a lot about that, but this is fantasy and that's reality," says Lorenzo di Bonaventura, producer of the Arnold Schwarzenegger shoot-em-up The Last Stand, out later this month. "I think we need to figure out reality, and fantasy always follows reality. I'm not a politician, so I'll stay off my point of view, but it's clearly something that all of us have a great deal of respect for what those people have suffered, and we don't look at this as part of that. They're two different things."

One film that's been even more closely linked to recent tragedy is Gangster Squad, about police going to war with a ruthless criminal in 1940s L.A. Originally, the film featured a scene depicting mobsters opening fire on a movie theatre full of patrons, but Warner Bros. quickly decided to cut the scene and postpone the film's release following the movie theatre shooting in Aurora, Colo.

Sean Penn stars in The Gangster Squad, which opens this weekend in the shadow of recent gun violence in the U.S. HANDOUT

"The Aurora shooting was an unspeakable tragedy, and out of respect for the families of the victims, we felt it necessary to reshoot that sequence, and I'm proud of the fact that I did that," director Ruben Fleischer says. "I think that we should all respect the tragedy and not draw associations to our film as a result of ... I mean to these types of tragedies."

While producers and directors might be careful with their statements, their stars are much more willing to spout off on the topic. Gangster Squad star Josh Brolin thinks connecting violence onscreen to violence in real life is a misguided oversimplification.

"You have to look at the grand scheme of things, from a universal standpoint," Brolin, who fires his fair share of rounds in Gangster Squad, says. "You have video games, you have psycho-pharmaceuticals, you have lowest employment, you have parents that aren't at home. You have CNN who gloms on to the worst of what's going on and not necessarily the best or the most heroic. So, there's many different factors. There's always been violence in movies and there always will be violence in movies. Whether it leads to the one psychotic that's out there that's thinking the worst thoughts you can possibly think is always going to be a mystery, I think."

Talking about America looking at new gun laws to prevent recent attacks.

Schwarzenegger agrees that scapegoating entertainment is a mistake.

"It's two different issues. This is entertainment, and the other thing is a tragedy beyond belief and it's serious and the real deal," he says, referring to the shooting in Newtown, Conn.

The former governor of California, who's no stranger to hot-button issues, already sees plenty of areas that need investigating.

"How can we do better with gun laws? If there is any loophole, if there is a problem there, let's analyze it. Let's not jump to conclusions, let's analyze," he says.

Kelly Osbourne learning to ignore taunts

Kelly Osbourne has worked hard to slim down, but she's learning the hard way that for some naysayers, nothing she does is good enough. "I'm the thinnest I've ever been and the healthiest I've ever been. The totally insane thing is that I'm a U.K. size four to six and people still say I'm fat," she tells Fabulous magazine. "I get called fat all the time. A big fat whore." What's most surprising is that much of the vitriol comes from fans of one of the biggest opponents of bullying and negativity. "Lady Gaga's fans are the worst," Osbourne says. "They've said I should kill myself, that they hope I get raped. I mean, it's crazy but I've had this all my life and I just try and ignore it."

Second split for Cooper and girlfriend?

Bradley Cooper and Zoe Saldana, who never confirmed they were dating, have reportedly broken up for a second time, according to Page Six. The pair are said to have initially dated for three months early last year after filming The Words together and then got together again in September, but they went their separate ways once more before the holidays. "Zoe had planned to spend the holidays with Bradley and his family in Europe. They all were going to Paris, but things didn't work out between them. Zoe spent New Year's Eve with friends in Miami," a source says. "If Zoe was upset over the split with Bradley, she didn't show it."

Bieber hashtag encourages fans to cut themselves

KIERON MONKS
Metro World News

Late Monday evening, Justin Bieber was trending on Twitter. Hardly new for the tween icon, but this was a darker episode, with the hashtag #cuttingforBieber used by young fans to offer blood sacrifices to their hero.

"Bieberbros" participated in a campaign of self-harm in response to a weekend picture that appeared to show Bieber smoking marijuana. Hundreds of images of slashed arms, some obviously fake, some disturbingly real, flooded the social network. "Why did you do this @justinbieber

You broke my heart," one user posted above a graphic image of the user's injuries.

The campaign was orchestrated by the 4Chan forum, popular with trolls, and plans can be seen on the website. "Let's see if we can get some little girls to cut themselves," a member wrote, and fake pictures were seeded to encourage the trend.

The horrific episode was picked up by celebrities, including singer and friend of Bieber, Miley Cyrus. "Cutting is NOT something to joke about."

There are people who are actually suffering from self-harm, this is so disrespectful," the star tweeted.

Bieber fans are known for their zeal and the "Bieber fever" phenomenon has been studied by psychologists. Two fans were arrested in December for plotting to castrate and murder the Canadian singer.

Romance fades as Swift's ex parties with Branson

Taylor Swift's fledgling romance with One Direction member Harry Styles appears to be over, as Swift left their romantic getaway to the British Virgin Islands early after a reportedly heated argument with Styles, according to Business Insider.

But while photos of Swift looking glum and lonely on her trip back hit the Internet, Styles apparently wasn't too broken up about the break up.

"Richard Branson heard Harry was staying nearby so invited him to come check out Necker (Island)," a source says.

"So when Taylor left for the states, Harry went to Branson's island for the day to let off some steam. He did plenty of partying and was definitely enjoying himself while hanging out with guests. He returned to Virgin Gorda in the early morning

The new links of Barbados are a hole-in-one for golfers

Swinging in the sun. From sugar cane meadows to Atlantic coastline, these courses put the island's terrain to good use

Once reliant on a traditional sun, sand and sea tourism strategy, Barbados signalled its arrival as a major player in Caribbean golf with the 2009 launch of Apes Hill Club.

The gorgeous 7,150-yard layout, which dips and twists through lush jungle, an abandoned coral quarry and the reclaimed fields of a former sugar plantation, is the centrepiece of an exclusive new residential community offering views of both the Atlantic Ocean and the Caribbean Sea from a hilltop site near the lively community of Holetown.

Apes Hill joins posh Sandy Lane resort's two acclaimed 18-hole courses, as well as Royal Westmoreland Golf and Country Club, as the golf headliners of a popular island destination of remarkable contrasts — from the windswept Atlantic coastline to vast meadows of sugar cane to the serene waters of the Caribbean coast, the site of most of the resorts. The former British colony is renowned for its white-sand beaches, hospitable people (known as Bajans) and its refined atmosphere.

Barbados ignited its golf boom with the 1994 launch of Royal Westmoreland, a superb Robert Trent Jones Jr. design near the capital of Bridgetown. Officially opened by Prince Andrew — who wowed onlookers by splitting the fairway with his first drive — the 7,045 parkland-style layout offers breathtaking views of the Caribbean Sea with almost every shot.

Royal Westmoreland reigned supreme until 2004, when the celebrity-packed but ill-fated wedding of Tiger Woods at nearby Sandy Lane resort focused international attention on the ultra-exclusive property's new $25-million Green Monkey course. Designed by Tom Fazio, the 7,389-yard behemoth slowly builds drama through the first eight holes before startling golfers with a rapid descent into an abandoned quarry.

So spectacular is the design and seaside setting that the Green Monkey instantly became one of the world's must-play courses. The only hitch is that access is restricted to guests of Sandy Lane, one of the Caribbean's priciest resorts. Sandy Lane does, however, offer public play on its other Fazio championship layout, the Country Club course, a lush parkland-style jewel, and on its nine-hole Old Nine course.

Apes Hill, the newest headliner, boasts a pedigree to rival even that of the Green Monkey. The project is a partnership between local entrepreneur Sir Charles Williams, whose family came from England to Barbados in the 1600s, and Landmark Land Company, the developer of such renowned golf properties as California's La Quinta Resort and Club and South Carolina's Kiawah Island Golf Resort. Wentworth Club, the famous English golf and country club, signed on to run the golf operation.

The golf course has created a buzz throughout the Caribbean. Designed by Jeff Potts and Chris Cole for Landmark, Apes Hill winds seamlessly through a rolling and still mostly wild landscape where green monkeys are often seen feasting on Barbados cherries, ackee and breadfruit. Especially thrilling are the jungle holes, 11 to 14, a quartet enthusiastically described by Golf World magazine as "every bit as dramatic and invigorating" as Augusta National's Amen Corner.

Rounding out the island's roster of courses is Barbados Golf Club, an affordable and challenging 6,697-yard government-owned layout, and the player-friendly, nine-hole Rockley Golf Club. Barbados, after years of building golf courses, is ready to play.

Silent Sanibel — the more laid back side of Florida

Island escape. This Gulf Coast locale is a welcome respite from the glitz and glam of Florida's more built up spots

Visit the beaches on Sanibel Island, Fla., a Gulf Coast barrier island, and you're likely to see people doing the Sanibel Stoop. That's the term for the bent-at-the-waist posture used to collect seashells on Sanibel Island, which bills itself as one of the best shelling locations in the world.

The island also offers 24 kilometres of beach, 35 kilometres of bike paths and the largest undeveloped mangrove ecosystem in the country. While other beach destinations in Florida might attract partying spring breakers or glamorous fashionistas, Sanibel proves to be the perfect spot for a family looking for a quiet beach retreat at the height of spring break revelry. There was no nightlife, high rises, chain stores, fast-food burger joints, traffic lights or insects.

Even travel guru Arthur Frommer, who's seen more than a few beaches, has named it a favourite destination, calling it an "idyllic haven of white-sand beaches" with "thousands of birds of every species."

The first sign that you hit on something special comes soon after you land at the Fort Myers airport, where tourism kiosks hand out free pocket-sized Lonely Planet travel guides to the area.

The drive from the airport west to Sanibel generally takes less than an hour, but timing is everything. A toll bridge connects Sanibel to the mainland, and the morning rush hour heading on-island and evening rush hour heading off-island can add another 45 minutes onto the trip during high season, which begins mid-January and peaks mid-March through mid-April.

With as many as 30,000 people on the island during high season, biking is the easiest way to get around. But here's a tip: Friends don't let friends ride at night without lights.

Some hotels provide bikes for their guests and the bike rental shops on the island will deliver and pickup for a fee. It pays to shop around as prices vary. Beach equipment can also be rented.

Golf, tennis and fishing are also popular options on the island, but no trip here would be complete without two things: the beaches and the J. N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge.

Over two-thirds of Sanibel is a nature reserve, with the refuge making much of it wonderfully accessible by car or bike. Take a 90-minute kayak tour through the mangrove, where you might catch a glimpse of a river otter. An assortment of the 230 species of birds on the island from anhingas to woodpeckers will keep you busy taking pictures, while knowledgeable guides point out horseshoe crabs, flying mullet and a water snake.

A pontoon boat tour will yield sightings of manatees and more birds.

The beaches themselves are lovely and far from crowded. The waves are gentle and it is shallow for a long way out, making it ideal for children. Other beaches, like Blind Pass, have stronger currents and aren't suitable for swimming.

Carrot Cake with Cream Cheese Frosting that goes easy on calories

for more, visit
rosereisman.com

People often think carrot cake is healthier than other desserts, but beware of recipes that sound healthy!

Most carrot cakes are full of oil, butter, eggs and regular sour cream.

This version greatly reduces the fat by using pineapple, extra carrots, low-fat yogurt and ripe banana to create the moist texture typical of carrot cake. As a result, it comes in at 223 calories per serving.

You can replace the raisins with chopped, pitted dates, apricots or prunes.

If you use a food processor to mix the batter, take care not to over process it or it will ruin the final product.

A garnish of shredded carrots or orange zest is a nice touch.

1. Preheat the oven to 350 F. Spray a 9-inch Bundt pan with cooking oil.

2. For the cake, beat the oil and granulated sugar in a large bowl until smooth. Add the eggs and vanilla, beating the mixture well (it may look curdled). Add the banana, carrots, raisins, pineapple and yogurt. Stir until everything is well combined.

3. Combine the flour, baking powder, baking soda, cinnamon and nutmeg in a separate bowl, mixing well. Add to the carrot mixture and stir just until everything is combined. Pour the mixture into the prepared pan.

ture into the prepared pan.

4. Place the pan in the centre of the oven and bake for 40 to 45 minutes, or until a tester inserted in the centre comes out clean. Cool in the pan on a rack. When it's no longer hot, invert the cake onto a serving plate.

5. For the icing, beat the cream cheese, icing sugar and milk in a bowl or food processor until smooth. Drizzle over the top of the cake. ROSE REISMAN'S COMPLETE LIGHT KITCHEN (WHITECAP BOOKS) eggs, brown sugar, cocoa powder, salt and brandy for 2 to 3 minutes, or until slightly thickened. Beat in the chocolate-butter mixture. The batter should resemble a thick pudding. Pour the batter into the cake pan, jiggling the pan to settle the batter so that it's level.

4. Place the larger pan with the cake pan in it into the oven. Pour hot water into the larger pan, being careful not to get any water on the cake batter.

5. Add enough water to bring it halfway up the sides of the cake pan. Bake for 35 to 40 min-

6. Carefully remove the pan from the oven; be careful not to splash the hot water. Remove the cake pan from the water bath and allow the cake to cool fully in the pan. Internship impending. It's hard to believe, but now is the time to start thinking about nabbing that position

LEAH RUEHLICKE

From debating the merits of unpaid versus paid internships and dissecting the benefits to your career, internships are an even hotter topic than Channing Tatum's stripper movie.

This article aims to break it all down into the simplest terms possible and speak directly to where to look for internships and how to lock one down.

Where are all the internships and co-ops hiding?

The key is to start looking early. Did you know most large employers post their summer internships and co-op roles in January? If you wait much longer it will be too late.

Find summer internships and co-ops online

Check out the summer, internship and co-op job listings here on TalentEgg.ca — there are a ton of roles available (many with deadlines this week and next) and we post new jobs every day!

I was a heavy user of the career centre in university and this definitely worked to my advantage.

For one thing, utilizing their resources to find a part-time job actually ended up landing me a student job at the centre because they knew who I was and wanted to help me out. Career centres not only have job listings, they often have connections with other employers (and, at the very least, are an amazing source of information for any questions

Network with your network

Let people know you are looking for an internship (professors often have a lot of insight and tips for success in this realm — and if you put in the effort, they're most likely going to be very eager to help you). Similar to my career centre tale of success, it's all about getting your face out there and seeking assistance from others.

Another great thing about internships is they can often lead to jobs. Guy Adam, Branch Manager at Robert Half in Laval, Que., offered the following advice for how to turn your internship into something permanent:

Don't be shy

As Guy puts it, "Competition can be fierce in this economy. Showing some confidence, while still acting professionally, can work in your favour." Therefore, don't be

I'm worth fighting for

Get employers to compete for your affection

- Andrew Horner decided that after two years of unfruitful job searching, he was going to turn the tables and ask employers to apply to have him work at their company
- With a bold list of "must haves," he set up a website (reversejobapplication.com) which went viral once people got wind of his "reverse job application" scheme.

- Horner ended up landing himself a job and keeps the website active to inspire others to ask: "What do employers have to offer me?"

campaign

If a creative resumé and billboard beside a major highway haven't landed you a job, you could always think about running your own ad campaign.

Alec Brownstein, a 28-year-old copywriter, landed a job through a fantastically simple personal marketing campaign. When advertising execs Googled their own names (admit it, we're all guilty of the "self-Google"), Brownstein's paid ad was the first result on the page.

The ad directed these potential employers to his personal website, and resulted in multiple job offers for Brownstein.

The stunt cost mere cents per click (for a total of $6), and all it took was a little outside-the-box thinking.

A-Rod slated for hip surgery next week

Alex Rodriguez is scheduled for hip surgery on Jan. 16.

The New York Yankees third baseman could be sidelined until the all-star break because of the injury, which was disclosed by the team last month.

Rodriguez, a 14-time all-star and baseball's priciest player at $275 million US, has a torn labrum, bone impingement and a cyst. General manager Brian Cashman said the team anticipates he will be sidelined for four to six months after the operation. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Armstrong set to tell all to Oprah?

Lance Armstrong has agreed to a rare televised interview with Oprah Winfrey that will air next week.

According to a release posted on Oprah's website on Tuesday, Armstrong will address allegations that he used performance-enhancing drugs during his cycling career.

Armstrong has strongly denied the doping charges that led to him being stripped of his seven Tour de France titles, but the New York Times reported Friday he has told associates he is considering admitting the use of PEDs.

Wide grin on Ovechkin in return to Capitals

NHL. Star headed back to D.C. after eventful few months in Moscow

Alex Ovechkin joked about his engagement to a tennis player and wore a T-shirt that read, in Russian: "Am I really the prettiest one here, again?"

Who knows how he'll look on the ice, but the two-time NHL MVP sure seems like his old self.

Having made a quick return from Russia once he heard that the NHL lockout was ending, Ovechkin joined nine other Washington Capitals on the ice for an informal skate Tuesday morning as they awaited the formal ratification of a new collective-bargaining agreement.

"Right now it's over," Ovechkin said. "And sometimes you just think, 'Why'd we do that?'"

Ovechkin was so pessimistic about the labour talks that he expected to spend the entire season playing for his hometown Dynamo Moscow in the Kontinental Hockey League.

As it is, he returns in better hockey shape than many of his peers, having played in 31 games with Dynamo. He said he got to celebrate New Year's in Moscow for the first time in 14 years and on Dec. 31 he gave a ring to tennis player Maria Kirilenko.

Ovechkin smiled when asked about life as an engaged man.

"It's a good feeling," Ovechkin said. "It's not that feeling anymore where you can do whatever you want. You have a girl with a tennis racket, and she can hit you."

under as she prepares for the Australian Open — nor have any dates been set for the Capitals. Training camp is expected to begin this weekend, with the regular-season openers following about a week later.

General manager George

McPhee said he was told of one schedule that had Washington opening with two games at home — then another that had the team starting with three on the road.

"There are going to be a lot of unknowns here," McPhee said. "No one knows what this is going to look like, who's in shape, who's not, who gets off to the fast start, who doesn't. It's going to be like 48 playoff games."

The good news for the Capitals is that the roster is set. Complicating matters is that they have a new coach, Adam Oates, who was hired after Dale Hunter decided not to return.

"With most teams, if the coach has been there already, this week will be a review," McPhee said. "But Adam's going to have to teach a system in the next week or so."

NHL camps expected to open Sunday

Let the season begin.

NHL training camps are expected to open Sunday after the ratification process for the new collective-bargaining agreement is completed, according to deputy commissioner Bill Daly.

The league and NHLPA spent Tuesday continuing to hammer out a memorandum of understanding that will ultimately be voted on by their constituents. The owners will cast ballots in person at a board of governors meeting Wednesday afternoon in New York, while the players are expected to vote electronically on Thursday and Friday.

If all of that goes off without a hitch, the agreement would then be signed by the parties.

"It's being worked on," Daly said Tuesday in an email. "We don't need it signed until the ratification process is done, which looks like Saturday."

The deal was hammered out early Sunday morning. Almost immediately, players began travelling back to the cities where their teams play in anticipation of a season unlike anything most have ever seen. A typical training camp runs for about three weeks and can include as many as eight exhibition games per team. This one

Dickey 'all in' on Blue Jays' plans

MLB. Knuckleballer excited with potential of Toronto team

Last month, the Toronto Blue Jays had a 72-hour window to work out a new deal with R.A. Dickey to close out a trade with the New York Mets for the veteran right-hander.

General manager Alex Anthopoulos pitched his vision of what the Blue Jays would be now and in the future. Dickey immediately liked what he heard.

"I was all in right then," Dickey said. "I think this can be a special few years for this city, for the country and all the players here."

Dickey agreed to a two-year contract extension worth $25 million US with a club option for 2016. He will be an anchor in a much-improved starting rotation that will likely include Josh Johnson, Mark Buehrle and incumbents Brandon Morrow and Ricky Romero.

Dickey was all smiles Tuesday afternoon as he was formally introduced by the team at a packed news conference in Toronto. For the next 40 minutes, he eloquently weighed in on the peaks and valleys of the journey that brought him to this point.

The 38-year-old knuckleballer touched on highs like winning the 2012 National League Cy Young Award. He also discussed the challenge of baring his soul in an autobiography where he divulged he was twice the victim of sexual abuse while growing up.

With Dickey, there are no clichés, no bling and no attitude.

The friendly Nashville native sat attentively at the dais with his fingers intertwined, offering informative and thoughtful answers to a range of questions.

"For the longest time, I kind of fought who I was and I'm thankful that I've been able to live through that into a period where I enjoy embracing who I feel like I am," Dickey said. "That's taken a lot of encouragement and a lot of hard work."

Dickey broke into the majors with the Texas Rangers in 2001 and bounced between triple-A and the major leagues for years. He settled in with the Mets in 2010 and posted impressive numbers over three straight seasons, capped by his 20-6 effort last year to go with a sparkling 2.73 earned-run average. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prostitutes in Brazil to learn English ahead of World Cup

Prostitutes in one of Brazil's biggest cities are beginning to sign up for free English classes ahead of this year's Confederations Cup and the 2014 World Cup.

Cida Vieira, president of the Association of Prostitutes in the city of Belo Horizonte, said Tuesday that 20 have already signed up for the courses and she expects at least 300 of the group's 4,000 members to follow suit. The association is organizing the classes and seeking volunteer teachers.

"I don't think we will have problems persuading English teachers to provide services for free," she said.

She said classes are expected to begin in March and last up to eight months.

"It will be important for the girls who will be able to use English to let their clients know what they are charging and learn about what turns them on," Vieira said by telephone.

"And for the same reasons we are also thinking of offering free French and Italian classes," she added.

Olympics unresolved

If NHL players are to continue participating in the Olympics, it's going to involve a delicate political dance.

- The issue was not resolved in CBA negotiations and will need to be hammered out with the IIHF and the IOC.

- It's been clear for some time the NHL is seeking to receive more of a direct benefit for closing its doors every four years in February and handing over its most important assets.

Rockets send Lakers to another loss

James Harden scored 31 and Chandler Parsons added 20 to help the Houston Rockets pick up their fifth straight win, a 125-112 victory over the short-handed Los Angeles Lakers on Tuesday night.

Houston trailed by as many as 14 points in the first half, but used a pair third-quarter runs to take over. Metta World Peace had 24 points for the Lakers, who were without big men Dwight Howard, Pau Gasol and Jordan Hill — all out with injuries.

Kobe Bryant added 20 for the Lakers and Steve Nash had 16 as they tied a season-high with their fourth straight loss.

Chevrolet Equinox 2013

ALL PHOTOS WHEELBASE

Fuel economy

With a rating of 9.2 l/100 km city and 6.1 highway (10.1/6.9 for AWD models), the 2.4 is the economy champ in the lineup. However the efficient V6 earns nearly the same 12.4 city/8.1 highway (13.2/8.4 AWD) numbers as the previous 3.0. The choice is yours, of course, depending on your lifestyle.

A look under the Equinox's hood

2013 Chevrolet Equinox

- Type. Four-door, front-/all-wheel-drive mid-size tall wagon.
- Engine (hp). 2.4-litre DOHC I4 (182); 3.6-litre DOHC V6 (301)
- Transmission. Six-speed automatic
- Base price (incl. destination). $28,400

Engine

Unchanged for 2013 is a standard 2.4-litre four-cylinder engine that's worth 182 horsepower and 172 pound-feet of torque. Both powerplants are connected to six-speed automatic transmissions, although the four-cylinder comes with an Eco mode that economically limits the maximum revs in each gear.

Style

The most significant aspect of the Equinox's styling is that it displays a rugged sport-utility-vehicle boldness shared with Chevy's larger Traverse and still-larger Tahoe. You won't find that in the Honda CR-V, Nissan Rogue, Ford Escape or most others in the segment.

Review. Clever wagon holds its own despite stiff competition

MALCOLM GUNN

Wheelbase Media

Chevrolet didn't exactly invent this category, but the Equinox represents a new level of refinement, style and overall performance that sets it apart from its segment peers.

Clever touches abound in the design, like the integrated rocker panels in the doors that reduce entry step-over height. The car-like interior is simply gorgeous and highly practical. It has dual gloveboxes, easy-to-read twin gauges set in large pods and plenty of handy storage bins.

There's also a versatile split folding rear seat that can be adjusted fore and aft over a 20-centimetre range to optimize legroom or cargo capacity. So the Equinox isn't a giant-killer in the off-road sense, but at least it can now boogie down the road with more authority, thanks to a new-for-2013 3.6-litre V6 option that generates 301 horsepower and 272 pound-feet of torque. It replaces last year's 3.0-litre V6 that only mustered 264 horses and 222 pound-feet of torque.

A wide assortment of standard equipment (air conditioning, cruise control, keyless remote entry etc.) comes in the base LS, as does a new seven-inch touch screen to work the standard audio system. The 1LT gets you premium cloth seats and a rear-vision camera, while the 2LT adds a power driver's seat and an up-level audio package. The LTZ loads up with climate control, heated leather seats and a power liftgate.

Standard this year in all but the base LS is MyLink, which is a combination voice-activation/touch-screen system that operates the various audio options, hands-free smart-phone communications and navigation functions. Being fashionably rugged, impressively more powerful and technologically up-to-date is what the Equinox is all about.

Looking for a good used car? You could do worse than heading to Arizona next week for Collector Car Auction Week.

Bring your wallet.

Better yet, re-mortgage your house, cash in your RRSPs, find the Canadian Tire Money, sell your kids for medical experiments, check under the sofa cushions for loose change and snacking material, and visit Harold the Jewelry Buyer.

Because some of these cars are on the pricey side...

Take for example the 1965 Ford GT40 consigned to RM Auctions' sale in Phoenix. The GT40 used in the Steve McQueen film, Le Mans, was auctioned off last year at RM's California sale for $11 million, making it the most expensive American car ever sold.

The road-going '65 GT40 going under the hammer in

Big money mobile: The 1960 Ferrari 250 GT SWB Berlinetta Competizione 'will be the top seller' in Arizona. PHOTO FROM RM AUCTIONS

Arizona is expected to sell for between $2.4 million and $3 million. In case you're wondering, that doesn't include safety check, emission test, or winter tires.

Another quite nice RM consignment is the 1930 Duesenberg Model J Tourster. Only eight were built. Their open-top bodies were designed and built by the coach building firm, Derham. Estimated auction price: $1.2 million to $1.6 million.

In fact, RM figures eight of its Phoenix auction consignments will fetch over $1 million. There is no doubt, however, about which one will set the high bar — the 1960 Ferrari 250 GT SWB Berlinetta Competizione.

"It will be the top seller of the week in Arizona," says Gord Duff of RM Auctions, over the phone from the firm's home base in Blenheim,

Ontario. (Yes, one of the top collector car auction houses in the world is Canadian.) "There isn't another auction selling anything that would bring this kind of money."

What's "this kind" of money? Well we don't know for sure. But some Ferrari 250 GTs sell for around $5 million, while others go for around $9 million. This particular 250 GT is considered one of the purest and most well documented 250 GTs out there, with just four owners since new. So figure more toward the high end of scale.

While it might be the highest price achiever in Arizona next week, it will likely take a back seat in the paparazzi department to a car set to take the Barrett-Jackson auction stage over in Scottsdale. That would be the first and original Batmobile. After staring in the TV series, it's creator, George Barris, bought it from Ford for one dollar. It's been his ever since. It changes hands next week, for the first time ever since that one-dollar sale. It's likely the most well-known and recognizable car in the world.

The other auction houses that make the scene at Arizona Collector Car Auction Week are Gooding and Company, Russo and Steele, Bonhams, and Silver Auctions.

"Arizona sets the tone for the coming year," notes Duff. RM is expecting Arizona to continue the strong sales trends of 2012. "The collector car market is especially strong right now, particularly for blue-chip, investment type automobiles."

Duff says enthusiasts from emerging markets, like the United Arab Emirates, Russia, India, China, and Brazil, are bolstering the collector car ranks these days. It's a global thing now and facilitating the togetherness is the Internet. Duff adds these out-of-country buyers often watch the auction on line, and bid on line. And so can you — the RM auction will be live on rmauctions.com. Just make sure you got enough headroom on the charge cards.

Horoscopes

Aries

March 21 - April 20
Venus, planet of harmony, moves into the career area of your chart today, so you will gain more by being nice to people than by trying to be a tough guy. Work with others and you can all be winners.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21
A little bit of gentle persuasion will get you everything you desire today. You don't need to force others to do your bidding. They will go out of their way to accommodate your needs. Within reason, of course.

Gemini

May 22 - June 21
Stand up to those who seem to enjoy making you feel bad about yourself. You are who you are for a reason and no one has the right to suggest that you should change your look, your ways or your attitude.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23
Venus, planet of love and harmony, moves into the partnership area of your chart today and almost immediately you will find that relationship problems are not as serious as you imagined. The fact is they never were.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23
You need to take a more relaxed view of everyday activities, especially those that require bursts of physical energy. Aggressive activity is rarely a good idea, so pace yourself sensibly over the next 24 hours.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
Creative activities and affairs of the heart will go very well indeed over the next few weeks, so look on the bright side and don't be afraid to take chances. By far the biggest risk is taking no risks at all.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
As Venus, your ruler, moves into one of the more sensitive areas of your chart, you won't mind admitting you got something wrong. This is much a time for forgiving, forgetting and moving on together.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
Travel and social activities will get a boost over the next few days. You start making plans. Even if you are a Scorpio who does not like the party life, you'll want to see and be seen. You're worth looking at!

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
There is really no point worrying about money matters and business issues. They will all come right in the end. Whatever your personal commitments may be you will find a way to meet them — somehow you always do.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
You will find it much easier to relax and take life as it comes now that Venus is joining the Sun in your sign. You don't have to be on the go every minute of every day. Give yourself a break occasionally.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
Being the charitable sort, you sometimes allow people to get away with things they really don't deserve to get away with. Don't be too generous for your own good over the next 24 hours.

Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20
Allow yourself to think the unthinkable thought. Allow yourself to dream the impossible dream. With so much positive cosmic activity today there is precious little you cannot do, so set your sights high — then go even higher. SALLY BROMPTON
